

Bloggers go wild

MALAYSIAN bloggers unleashed the party animal side of them at Saturday's Nuffnang-Maxis Wild 'Life' Party at Modesto's/Rain, Desa Sri Hartamas. The party, which saw about 100 local bloggers at South East Asia's first 'live blogging' gathering had bloggers dressing up to the nines, with some coming dressed with 'animal' accessories like bunny ears to complete the whole party animal look.

The party invited bloggers to bring their own laptops to get connected at the party with Maxis Broadband so that the bloggers could update their readers in real time with stories and photos of the event. However, that wasn't all there was to the party. The best costumed King and Queen of the Jungle were each awarded with a Dell XPS M1330 laptop while prizes were also given away for the Most Creative Post, the Worst Recognisable Animal Post and the Oddest Place for an Animal Post.
